ANNUAL REPORT 2019

FIGHTING FOR STRONG PUBLIC HEALTH CARE WORLDWIDE

THE FOCUS IN 2019 IS ON THE IMPORTANCE OF STRONG PUBLIC HEALTH CARE, HIGHLIGHTED BY THE 'THIS IS OUR HEALTH CARE' CAMPAIGN.

With our 'manifesto for public health care worldwide', we urged future Belgian ministers of Foreign Affairs and Development Cooperation to support the implementation of qualitative, transparent and accessible public health care services in other countries, to break the monopoly of pharmaceutical companies and to support social movements that demand the right to health. In our paper 'Why public health care is better', we went further and explained why health care is better in the hands of the public sector rather than the private sector.

Through this campaign, we are also supporting our partners in their fight for strong public health care in their countries. Our Filipino and Palestinian partners shared their experiences on how the campaigns for the right to health were conducted, while our Cuban partner met social movements in Belgium to talk to them about the Cuban approach to this issue.

SOCIAL MOVEMENT FOR HEALTH: ONLY FIGHTERS WIN

IN 2019, SOCIAL MOVEMENTS AND HUMAN RIGHTS DEFENDERS IN NUMEROUS COUNTRIES, FIGHTING FOR BASIC RIGHTS, HAD TO FACE INCREASINGLY DIFFICULT AND EVEN INCREASINGLY DANGEROUS CONDITIONS. THIS WAS ALSO THE CASE IN SOME OF OUR PARTNER COUNTRIES.

Health is a basic right. And yet, health and social movement workers and activists are faced with difficulties every day in order to assert this right.

They are the victims of deliberate threats whose aim is to make them surrender their fight against injustice. Attacks against social movements are also often the most serious in places where social rights suffer the greatest violations. But people continue to take a stand and join forces for a better health situation for everyone and for a fairer society. It is only by getting organised in social movements that people can claim their rights and achieve change.

Through our 'Only Fighters Win' campaign, we are shining the spotlight on health workers and their social movements. Asrar, a Palestinian human rights activist, came to Belgium to talk about the situation in her country. Our campaign was part of the broader 11.11.11 campaign on 'change-makers', who fight for rights worldwide.

We have campaigned for several colleagues who work in partner organisations in the South, and we have taken initiatives to exert political pressure in favour of support for social movements that demand the right to health.

- RACHEL MARIANO, A FILIPINO HEALTH WORKER, WAS RELEASED AFTER A YEAR IN PRISON
- 300 HUNDRED SOCIAL MOVEMENT ACTIVISTS GATHERED IN THE STREET FOR THE 'DEFEND THE DEFENDERS' ACTION IN ANTWERP, BRUSSELS, GHENT, SINT-NIKLAAS AND VERVIERS
- HUNDREDS OF PARTICIPANTS GOT TO KNOW OUR HEALTH WORKERS AT THE MANIFIESTA FESTIVAL

- UBAI AND WALEED, OUR PALESTINIAN COLLEAGUES, WERE ARRESTED
- OUR FILIPINO COLLEAGUE, CRISTINA 'TINAY' PALABAY, FROM THE HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANISATION KARAPATAN, RECEIVED THREATS
- THE FIGHT CONTINUES: OUR PARTNERS AND SOCIAL MOVEMENTS ARE STILL UNDER PRESSURE

HEALTH COMMITTEES FIGHT FOR CLEAN WATER AND AGAINST THE EBOLA VIRUS

PREVENTION IS BETTER THAN CURE. ALL THE MORE SO IF WE CAN'T COUNT ON A STRONG HEALTH CARE SYSTEM.

Étoile du Sud's community health committees and CODIC's member organisations play an important role in the prevention of diseases such as malaria and Ebola. Through their cleanliness actions in popular neighbourhoods, and their actions concerning access to clean water and the importance of handwashing, they mobilise people to play an active role in defending their health and that of their community, an approach supported by the authorities.

WE WANT WATER

In Bukavu, South Kivu, the committees raised awareness in the community concerning water scarcity in different neighbourhoods. Groups of women and young people compiled a report on the lack of water and after several protests and negotiations with the national water supply company, these neighbourhoods were given access to drinking water.

THE CLEAN HANDS CHALLENGE

Access to clean water is a crucial stake in the fight against disease and the spread of viruses such as Ebola. Over the space of a month, Étoile du Sud led a wide-scale campaign in different provinces, in neighbourhoods, markets and schools, concerning the importance of washing your hands properly. In a region like North Kivu, where there was a widespread outbreak of Ebola in 2019, this hygiene ritual can be a matter of life or death.

22.751 people have participated in initiatives for the right to health

"Thanks to the project I set up with others in my neighbourhood, all the inhabitants have access to drinking water again. Today, many people are also involved in cleanliness actions."

FIGHTING FOR PUBLIC HEALTH CARE

IN THE PHILIPPINES, WE WORK WITH HEALTH ORGANISATIONS, WOMEN AND CLIMATE MOVEMENTS AND THE HUMAN RIGHTS MOVEMENT. TOGETHER THEY FORM A FRONT FOR THE RIGHT TO HEALTH. WE HAVE CHOSEN TO HIGHLIGHT ONE OF THE IMPORTANT BATTLES OF 2019.

In 2019, the public health care system in the Philippines suffered a number of heavy blows. The government made drastic cuts in hospitals and public services at a time when the country was experiencing a new epidemic of dengue fever and, for the first time in 20 years, the return of polio. Our partners sounded the alarm.

The year appeared to get off to a good start. In February, the president passed a law on universal health care. Thanks to this law, all Filipinos are supposed to benefit from national health insurance, known as Philhealth. But the law offers no solution for chronic health problems. Major investments in prevention, infrastructure and public health services are what is needed, rather than paying for health insurance that increases the profits of private commercial stakeholders who, to make matters worse, have been accused of outright fraud.

COLLECTIVE ACTION

With the help of several organisations and networks, our partners have put forward bills against the privatisation of public hospitals, for affordable medication, and for better working conditions for health workers. There is also widespread disarray among the population. Owing to various scandals, many have joined protests and created community-based committees. Together they form a growing coalition for the people's right to health.

FIGHTING FOR HEALTH INSURANCE FOR ALL

IN PALESTINE WE STRENGTHEN YOUTH MOVEMENTS THAT PROMOTE THE RIGHT TO HEALTH THROUGH LOCAL ACTIONS, NATIONAL CAMPAIGNS AND NETWORKING. ONE OF THE IMPORTANT CAMPAIGNS IN 2019 WAS FOR HEALTH INSURANCE FOR ALL.

The health situation of the Palestinians is heavily impacted by the Israeli occupation, by the physical and psychological violence and all its economic and social effects. Health care is also under pressure, especially owing to delays at checkpoints, the ban on building hospitals in certain regions or the difficulty of importing medication and essential medical supplies. Hence, many Palestinians rely on Israeli health care but can't always acquire permission to travel.

NATIONAL SURVEY

That said, the Palestinian Authorities can also do something to improve the health system. This is why our Palestinian partners organised a massive survey on national health insurance. They wanted to know if it met international standards and to what extent Palestinians are satisfied with this insurance and public health care. Bisan, one of our local partners, focused especially on young people, through group discussions in five towns in the West Bank. Hence, they are taking the initiative by creating a bridge between the population and the authorities through actions within local communities and initiatives such as this national survey.

4 PARTNERS

REGIONS: the West Bank, Jerusalem, Gaza

86 youth movements played an active role in local campaigns in order to improve the health situation within their community

60% of Palestinians benefit from national health insurance but half of them find it too expensive

More than 50% of people benefiting from this insurance go to private hospitals and 75% go to private doctors even if this is more expensive

who participated in this survey

“I didn't realise the importance of a public health care system and the importance of fighting for it. I didn't know that our health care system allowed companies to play with our lives and our health.”

CUBA

ACTING TOGETHER AGAINST THE EFFECTS OF CLIMATE CHANGE

CUBA IS MORE EXPOSED TO CLIMATE CHANGE THAN OTHER COUNTRIES. THIS IS WHY THE CUBAN AUTHORITIES HAVE SET UP A PLAN TO FIGHT CLIMATE CHANGE, CALLED 'TAREA VIDA', WHICH MEANS 'PLAN FOR LIFE'.

Our local partner, Centro Felix Varela, plays an active role in this programme. It develops the means to involve the population and raise awareness about the risks of global warming, and to increase their general knowledge on the subject. This is done through 'Green Mapping', a unique method by which the inhabitants themselves map the natural resources within their living environment.

In 2019, with the help of Cubanismo.be, we sold chocolate eggs during our annual Easter campaign, for the benefit of a project to replant mangroves by volunteer groups in Cuba. More than 100 coastal communities are right on the front line if a cyclone hits. If this happens, they will have to move elsewhere. The mangroves allow them to better protect themselves against the severe impact of cyclones.

ALIUSKA BLANKO

volunteer at Centro Felix Varela

"We managed to restore this mangrove, which is a precious ecosystem, through environmental rehabilitation actions in El Rincón. This is the work of an entire community, coordinated by the Centro Felix Varela."

14 335 euro collected during our Easter campaign

122 coastal communities must be moved

1.3 metres a year: this is how far the water penetrates inland to the Cuban south coast due to rising sea levels.

INTERNATIONAL

FROM EXPERIENCE TO KNOWLEDGE: A PARTICIPATORY SURVEY

ON AN INTERNATIONAL LEVEL, WE ARE STRENGTHENING THE RIGHT TO HEALTH MOVEMENT THROUGH OUR CONTRIBUTION TO THE PEOPLE'S HEALTH MOVEMENT. WE SUPPORT THEIR RESEARCH, PUBLICATIONS AND TRAINING. IN 2019, WE WERE PROUD TO PUBLISH THE RESULTS OF A STUDY CONDUCTED OVER FOUR YEARS.

What is there in common between the occupation of a hospital in Colombia, a community health committee in Congo and a patients movement in South Africa fighting for access to medication? To answer this question, Viva Salud participated in a People's Health Movement survey for four years, in order to see how activism could be made more efficient and to build a global social movement for health for all.

This survey highlights what we do and the way we do it, for instance, as regards organising a campaign, the way of defending our ideas and recruiting new activists. The opinions and experiences of activists play a central role. The cycles of actions and collective reflection have allowed us to share our experiences on our way of organising ourselves to act, and to reach a common view of what works in a given context.

Within the framework of this survey, Viva Salud organised workshops in Congo with our partners Étoile du Sud and Codic, among other things. The study led to an academic article published in 2019 entitled 'Methodological challenges in researching activism in action: civil society engagement towards health for all'.

In 2019, our turnover was approximately EUR 1.7 million.

In 2018, we organised a major assembly of the People's Health Movement. It was a unique activity, which explains the significant difference between the two years.

We said goodbye to Hans, our local coordinator in the Philippines, who retired. Today, we only have one cooperative in Kinshasa.

In 2019, we conducted a mid-term assessment of our five-year programme. This explains the increase in management costs.

We didn't manage to reach our fundraising objectives and experienced a slight drop in donations.

Significant cuts were made to our subsidies.

We ended the year with a loss of EUR 40,000 owing to cuts to the governmental subsidies and we raised less funds than initially forecast. We have taken this amount out of our reserves so that we can continue to work on our programmes. The reduction in other revenues did not affect the result.
